LIGHTS, CAMERA, GRACE!!

“The Discipline of Grace”

1. The _____ of God’s grace
2. The _____ of God’s grace
3. The _____ of God’s grace
4. The _____ of God’s grace

As I lay in the snow on Christmas Eve and snowflakes were hitting my face, I thought, “I wonder how God feels about having a relationship with me.” I know what it is like to have a relationship to Him, but what does he think about me being in a relationship with Him? I know that I need His love, grace and mercy everyday!! But, He is not untrusting or not disloyal, or any of those things that has happened to some of us...God would never treat us that way! I am the one that is not trustworthy, not loving, not loyal and not faithful to Him. He does treat us in a way we don’t deserve. He is truly a great friend! I, on the other hand...well you get the picture. As the new year is upon us, there is a challenge. God loves the unlovable and so should we. The challenge this year is to find that one person, yep, just one...and be the best friend you can, just like God is with us. Be a friend when everyone dislikes your loyalty to that one person! After all, didn’t Jesus show loyalty to a bunch of people that abandoned Him in His desperate time of need? Didn’t He forgive the people that didn’t deserve it? How many times does Jesus leave Peter after he was disloyal to Jesus? Didn’t Jesus restore Peter after Peter had denied Him? Ask the Holy Spirit today to give you that one person, that one chance!!

Just some simple thoughts,

Paul

F or Him I have discovered one of the worst things a person could do is to call a car dealership and ask simply
A questions about a vehicle. Once that is done, watch out here come the leaches. (apologies to those who are car salesmen) I have recently discovered exactly why I don’t like car shopping: 1. another
L car payment. 2. Salesmen 3. Higher insurance 4. car payments 5
L salesmen. (not necessarily in that order. It seems like all the dealerships want to know is, watcha got and when you gonna get here.
I In Mark 5 we find Jesus in the midst of the Jesus parade. I can imagine he probably felt like I have with the salesmen. People pressing on every side, all with the same reply – watcha got for me Jesus?
N It was during this gathering that something happened. It came out of nowhere, someone who really needed but was afraid to ask. If only I
G could touch Him. He is truly my last hope. I do believe He can help me, but I am a nobody, a reject, an outcast. Maybe if I could just crawl, after all, I am used to people walking all over me. Just one touch. Then the text says she touched his cloak. She didn’t even make contact with Him – only his clothes. But that was enough.

In the midst of the chaos, Jesus stopped. Then a question that baffled even his closest followers...“who touched me?” Confused, his close friends replied, “Uh, Jesus, everyone is touching you, we are in a crowd and they can’t stay away from you.” As Jesus scanned the crowd, it was only out of her fear that she stepped forward. She was used to being pushed away and now she fell before Him trying to explain her way out of suddenly being the center of attention. (the last thing she wanted)

But then it happened. Words she had never heard before. Words of acceptance, forgiveness and life. Out of all those surrounding Jesus, she had it, the one thing He demands. We don’t know what happened to her after that moment. All we know is that she was healed, and in more ways than one.

In this crowded world, where Jesus is pushed out more than invited in, what is the one thing? What is the answer when Jesus says, watcha got for me? Faith. We all seem to easily answer that one. It’s the next question that Jesus poses that is difficult: When is it gonna get here?

Epignosis.
